"Hospice Volunteering is an amazing experience! There are several types of volunteer opportunities and you can choose the one best suited to you. They include visiting patients, relieving care givers, working in the office, and being a community volunteer. I find it a gift to be able to give."

Hospice of Montezuma shares... 7 Steps to Achieve Your Dream

Step 1: Dream It.

Hospice dreamed of being in a new location. It began in the heart and mind of every employee and was not discouraged by negative thinking.

Step 2: Believe It.

The building seemed beyond our capabilities. But it was believable. It took the help of others and lots of hard work!

Step 3: See It.

It was founded on great achievers that could "see" things. The community, the board, the employees, the financiers could "see" possibilities and potential.

Step 4: Tell It.

Quiet dreams often only live inside the mind. In order to be achieved, the dream was told to many people. Each time it was said, it was believed by all more and more. As it was talked about, it seemed that it must be possible.

Step 5: Plan It.

Every dream takes planning. All of the details had to be carefully thought out...Strategized and a time line established.

Step 6: Work It.

Success was the result of lots of hard work, and lots of hard work, and-yes-more hard work.

Step 7: Enjoy It.

When the goal is reached, enjoy it! Give yourself rewards and help others enjoy also. Be gracious and generous. Use your dream to better others. Then go back to No. 1 and dream a little bigger!
